MERIVALE'S CONVERSION OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE.D. APPLETON & CO., Nos. 403 & 445 BROADWAY,
WHAT I SAW ON THE WEST COAST
OF
SOUTH AND NORTH AMERICA
AND
AT THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS,
By H. WILLIS BARCLAY, M.D.,
1 vol. 12mo. $2.
"The author is Special Commissioner of the United States, visited in the years 1860, '61 and '62, parts of the west coast of America and the Hawaiian Islands. When not occupied by the duties of his commission he availed of every opportunity and of otherwise obtaining information from countries. In the interior of provinces he has been received and his return and his reflections have been thrown together, and are embraced in this volume."—Extract from Preface.THE CONVERSION OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE.
BY CHARLES MERIVALE, R.D.
AUTHOR OF "HISTORY OF THE ROMANS UNDER THE EMPIRE," &c., &c., $4.

"His familiarity with historical literature of the first three centuries of our era, in particular, is well known. He appreciates with more than common sympathy the state of mind of those ages, whose destiny it was to hover in the balance between the decaying empire of Rome and the new empire of Christianity. His Panegyric and the treatise on the religious apology which consists in the contract between Christian doctrine and pagan corruption as the strongest proof of the divine origin of the former. He chooses rather to emphasize the moral truth attained by the minds of the highest minds, and dispenses not only with their writings but in the social and political tendencies of their age, was calculated to make them accept with greater readiness the new teaching."
